will meet at Chicago, Wednesday, the 30 day of June next, for the nomination of candidates to be supported for President and Vice President at the next election.

Republicans, and all who will co-operate with them in supporting the nominees of the party, are invited to choose two delegates from each Congressional District, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia, to represent them in the Convention.

ROOMS OF THE
REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE, MILWAUKEE, February 12, 1880

Nominees of the party, is hereby called to meet at the Capitol in Madison, at twelve o'clock M., on Wednesday, May 20, 1880, for the purpose of placing in nomination an electoral ticket of ten electors to be supported by the party at the next Presidential election, and also to select twenty delegates, (two from each Congressional district and four from the State at large), to represent the Republican party of Wisconsin in the National Republican Convention, which is called to meet at Chicago on the 30 day of June, A. D. 1880, and to transact such other business as may be determined.

Each Senate and Assembly District is entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

R. H. BAKER, Chairman, F. D. WEAVER, CHAS. LUTHER,
H. BAKER, G. W. CANTER, J. H. KEYS, JAMES H. FOWLER, P. L. SPOONER, JR., L. B. SALES, J. H. WAGGONER, HENRY COUSINS, E. BOWEN, F. A. BUCHER, J. R. BRIDGEMAN, S. W. HUNT, L. F. FRISBY, H. O. FAIRCHILD, State Central Committee.

The Democratic party gets the blues when a weak passes in which it fails to make a blunder.

There are a good many melancholy facts connected with the condition of the Democratic party, and one is that it has no faith in its own honesty.

Indiana did a good thing in changing the time of holding the State election from October to November, when general elections are held. The other "old" States should follow the example.

Finley is the latest addition to Tilden's political household. What a quartet—Tilden, Garcelon, Peiton and Finley. If poor Cronin and Tweed were only there, Tilden's cup of happiness would be full to the brim.

The musical people of the United States will be worked up to a high pitch of enthusiasm next season when the programme of Colonel Mapleson is fully carried out. He has secured Gerster and Nilsson, two of the greatest female singers of the age, and also that marvelous tenor, Campinelli, and will make dates in the principal cities of the Union. It will be the strongest opera company ever brought to this country, and will doubtless be the most successful. There is a power in Nilsson, Gerster, and Campinelli that is indescribable, or in other words a magnetism, which holds an audience spell-bound. It will doubtless be the greatest musical season ever known in this country.

There were a good many truths spoken in the United States Senate on Friday, relative to the West Point Military academy. That institution is becoming, in fact now, a disgrace to the country. Whether or not Cadet Whitaker inflicted the injuries upon himself, makes no difference concerning the character of West Point.
If the inhuman treatment was inflicted upon the students of any other institution that yearly occurs at West Point, the country would be almost up in arms about it, but that Academy being under the control of the government, there is a disposition to overlook the insults and barbarities that certain cadets received from the members of other classes.
If there is not power enough in the government to stop brutalities which are committed there every year, the institution should be demolished, and the honor of the country saved from loss. The way matters have been going on there for years, makes its continuance degrading and damages every one who has anything to do with the management of the institution. There are no civilized or humane principles upon which it is conducted. It is a school of terror and lawlessness, and the scene of frequent and infernal outrages.

There is something in the candidacy of Mr. Williams for re-election to Congress which annoys the Milwaukee Sentinel and the News. They won't believe their own eyes, and will not place any confidence in what might be accepted as reliable reports.
The News says some body is trying to start a "boom" for Williams; that the report that those who a few weeks ago thought would contest for the nomination but now will favor his re-election, must need some sort of proof before it will be accepted as true, and that Charles and Baker are not men likely to withdraw from the contest for the place so easily. The News may find some sort of consolation in taking this position, but we apprehend it won't last long, as time will bring to light its own foolishness.
The Sentinel is not any better off than the News. Way Mr. Williams, or his re-election, should give these twin newspapers so much concern, is not very clear. Anything that indicates that Mr. Williams will probably be re-nominated, makes the Sentinel squirm, and the fact that he will have no decided opposition in the district this fall, puts that paper decidedly out of humor; and it suggests that before any stock is taken in the report that certain ones have "expressed themselves in favor

BARBARISM.

Debate in the Senate by Senators Bruce and Hoar on the Whittaker West Point Case.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—Senator Bruce does not believe that Cadet Whitaker is guilty of the mischief of trying and mutilating himself. Senator Logan introduced a resolution in the Senate, calling upon the Secretary of War for information about the case, and it is still pending. During the debate Senator Bruce made a very sensible speech, and showed considerable feeling. Among other things, he said that bitter experience had proven that it was useless to appoint a colored boy to a cadetship in either the Naval or Military Academy. While his race was admitted to Congress, to the courts, to the pulpit, and to other processes upon an equality with the whites, so prejudice had so far hedged around the army and navy against colored men, and of the many colored cadets that had been admitted to West Point and Anapolis, only one had ever succeeded in passing a graduation. It might be their own fault, but what he knew of the ill treatment and ostracism several of them had received, he was inclined to believe that it was not entirely so. Hardships had been heaped upon them, and while cadets knew nothing of difficulties, they had been thrown in their way that most of the white cadets could not have overcome, and while he regretted to say it, he felt the army and navy would contain men of his race had the treatment they had received been the same that the white cadets enjoyed.
Senator Hoar followed, and corroborated what he had said. It appears that Cadet Hoar, who had been dismissed from the Naval Academy for mistreating a colored cadet, Baker, was restored less than a year after his dismissal.

WEST POINT.

The Examination of the Whittaker Case Progressing at the Academy.

WEST POINT, April 9.—An examination of the case of Cadet Whittaker commenced at 10:30 to-day. Whittaker was the first examined. His story agrees with his first statement.

Cadet Whittaker was on the stand over two hours. He first described the assault on him, reiterating his former story minutely, saying the men were generally attired, and he could not tell whether they were citizens or disguised cadets. He said he cried loud enough for help for the occupants in the adjoining rooms to hear him if they had been awake. The transom over the door was open, as was also the ventilator over his desk. He said the men had on slippers, or were in their stocking-feet, and one of the largest carried either a candle or a taper. He did not even suspect who the men were. When asked what had been his personal feeling within a month as to the probability of his graduating he replied: "I always felt I would get through." He said he never had special cause for discouragement before this occurred. He testified he had no reason to suppose that there are prejudices in the minds of his instructors against him, and that he has a fair chance of getting through, as far as they are concerned, but felt that his social isolation has an effect on him, so far as his studies were concerned. When some pieces of the belt with which he had been tied were shown witnesses, it was revealed that one piece contained eyelets, which none but officers' belts have, and Whittaker was never an officer. His counsel deemed this important. He also denies the ownership of the black necktie found in his room.

WEED'S OPINION

Of the Nomination of General Grant for President.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Thurlow Weed, in the Tribune to-day says: "Six months ago Grant's nomination was a 'foregone conclusion." There was then a general belief that the country needed him. But the circumstances and conditions bearing legitimately upon the question have entirely changed it." He thinks the nomination of either of the other principal candidates preferable to Grant, because he has been honored sufficiently already and because the anti-third term sentiment will impair his chances.

Weed claims to have been the leading organizer of the movement securing his first nomination, and naming those who participated, says of the survivors of these original friends of Grant, though now as then truly his friends, not more than one believes his nomination expedient. It called on to express an opinion they would probably say that in their judgment the course recently pursued by the Republicans of Connecticut in their State Convention was practical and patriotic.

MINNESOTA.

No Room For Anybody—What a Window Movement would Presage.

ST. PAUL, April 9.—The meeting of the Republican Central Committee has not contributed much to the elucidation of the political problem. Members of the committee could not be induced to express decided enough preferences for Presidential candidates to give color to their meeting. If the Committee is inclined to boom fairly for anybody it is Winch; and it is not impossible that the State Convention may be persuaded to present his name to the National Convention as that of the favorite son of Minnesota. Mr. Winch himself will not countenance this movement, other than passively. He is a Grant man; like Captain Blakey, the Chairman of the Committee. This suggests a possibility that the starting of a Window boom might have more of political shrewdness than State vanity in it, after all. Mr.
Winch is deservedly popular in Minnesota, and there would be no sort of difficulty in securing the enthusiastic adoption by the State Convention of a set of delegates supposed to be in his interest.
It would not be so easy to secure approval for a confessed Grant delegation. Blaine, Washburne, and Edmunds men would unite upon Winch, but would, many of them, demand that he be a body wanted for a solid delegation from Minnesota for Grant, the wisest way to do it would be to cover the design under a boom for Winch.

PROBLEM SOLVED.

How Congressmen Can Dead-Head Letters—The Franking Privilege.

WASHINGTON, April 9.—One of the most burdensome and troublesome duties of Congressional life is the correspondence which a Senator or member of the House is compelled to carry on with his constituents, and in some cases the expenses for postage is very considerable. How to avoid this trouble and expense is one of the problems that the statesmen in Congress are trying to solve. The Postmaster General has aided materially in this direction by issuing an order that replies from his department to inquiries submitted by Congress for the information of their constituents, should be sent to those constituents under the frank of the department free of charge. This order was so gratefully received by the Congressmen that they at once sought similar favors from other departments.
The largest part of a Congressman's correspondence is about the pensions.
This comes under the Interior Department. Congressman Newberry, of Michigan, called the matter to the attention of Secretary Schurz, who has agreed to have replies to inquiries from a Congressman's constituents enclosed in an official envelope, under the frank of the department, and sent to the Congressman for him to forward to its destination, but the Congressman is not allowed to add anything to the letter so enclosed.

CARPETS.

What American Pluck and Enterprise Are Doing.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A Liverpool letter says public sales of wool there the last two weeks have established the reality of American competition in a manner unexpected by the English manufacturers, and that, under the influence of American orders, the price of wool attained to a figure higher than had been known in the market since 1871. It is claimed that within the last six months more costly carpets have gone to the United States than had been exported in the previous six years, but, so far as the carpet trade generally is concerned, there is no attempt to conceal the loss of the American market. Taking advantage of the depression that has prevailed, large quantities of machinery have been bought in Yorkshire at very low prices for transportation to the United States. Instances are mentioned of the purchase for shipment of the entire equipment of mills at less than one-third of their original cost. Skilled workmen are being carried across the Atlantic. The best designer in Kiddermin-ster goes to an American carpet manufacturer. Agents now pick out the best workmen, who eagerly accept engagements for the United States.

A GOOD SHOT.

NOTTAWA, Mich., April 9.—Charles Clews, clerk in A. F. Drake's dry goods store, heard a man cutting at a pane of glass in the back window last night. He fired, and the shot took effect in the head of the burglar, killing him instantly. He was identified as a stranger who had been seen around there the day before. There was nothing on his person by which his name could be learned. A chisel and a large knife were found lying near the body.
The remains were taken in charge by the town authorities.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

EAU CLAIRE, April 9.—Wm. Searls, night clerk at the Windsor House in this city attempted suicide last night by cutting three gashes in his throat with a razor.
He claims he was dreaming of being arrested, and must have committed the act in preference to arrest.
Evidently it was premeditated, as he had placed a candle in the center of the room, tied his boots together and laid them close beside it, and was wrapped up in bed clothes and lying with his neck across the candle and his head resting on the boots. He was very weak from the loss of blood when discovered, but will probably recover.

MOONSHINER SHOT.

LINCOLN, N. C. April 9.—A desperate encounter took place about five miles from this place, this morning, between Revenue Officer Stockton and Joe Reynolds, a noted moonshiner. It has long been a boast of Reynolds that he could never be captured alive. Officer Stockton has been tracing him, and this morning caught him in the woods, far from his gang. Both being men of powerful physique and evenly matched, prepared for a rough struggle.
Stockton cocked his pistol and cried, "Surrender, in the name of the commonwealth!" Reynolds' reply was a pistol shot, which went through the officer's hat. Drawing a bowie knife, Reynolds, who it seems had but this one chamber in his revolver loaded, rushed at Stockton, who fired at him and missed. Both men clinched, the officer warding off the knife thrusts. He managed in the struggle to get his pistol in position and shot the desperado through the neck. With the exclamation, "I die game!" Reynolds loosened his grip and fell back dead.

JAIL DELIVERY.

KENOSHA, April 9.—The following prisoners broke jail last night: John Dempey, held for slander; John Plarder and J.
McLinden, held for larceny; Edward Greenwood, for assault with intent to kill, and ten tramps. Greenwood has been caught, but the rest are still at large.

MADISON.

MADISON, April 9.—Governor Smith left to-day for Washington, to attend to important business of the State. He will be absent from the State a couple of weeks.
Before leaving he appointed Henry Fischer, of Milwaukee, Treasurer Agent, in place of Henry Kleinpelt, term expired.
Judge Bruley re-elected Municipal Judge over Parkinson by 162 majority.

COON AND COMMODORE.

Surprising Adventure of a New York Gentleman.

Jupiter Inlet (Times) Letter in New York Sun.
Commodore Thomas Jefferson Falls, of New York, ran up to the lighthouse here in his tiny yacht, the Louise, a week ago, and anchored. The Louise is twenty-one feet long and nine feet wide. At night the boom is hoisted and a tent is thrown over it and buttoned down at the acupers.
A sand fly bar is dropped from the top of the tent, the Commodore tucks the ends under his cork mattress, and seeks his rest. One morning, while anchored near the light, he awoke and was surprised to see a coon sitting astraddle the center-board and regarding him with steadfast eyes. The coon had a nose like a snipe, and luminous eyes set close together. He had been fishing at night. Being surprised by dogs he had taken to the water and boarded the Commodore's craft for protection.
Elwin Snow, the Commodore's pilot, caught the animal by the scruff of the neck and threw him overboard. The dog leaped the shore awaiting his arrival.
The coon took in the situation at a glance, swam to the side of the yacht, and silently expressed his thanks to the Commodore.
Moved by his pitying glances, Mr. Falls put out an oar. The coon seized it and was drawn on board. The Commodore fed him, and the two beings became quite friendly.

A barrel was procured, small square holes were made in its side and was set apart for the use of the coon. Bluefish and other delicacies were sent before him, and he thankfully devoured them. In the afternoon the little yacht was drawn up to the wharf and tied. The Commodore climbed the winding stairs of the light-house and gazed over the stretch of country bordering the Everglades. Hearing a great racket below, he glanced at his yacht and saw a singular sight. One of the dogs had leaped on the Louise and was smelling at the holes of the barrel. The coon resented the intrusion, and fastened his teeth in the dog's nose. In an instant the barrel, coon and all were yanked on deck.
The dog tried to back himself on the wharf, missed his footing, and barrel, coon and dog went overboard. The coon released his hold and the dogs swam ashore.
His indignant antagonist remained in the barrel and floated toward the inlet. The Commodore ran down from the lighthouse and rescued him in a small boat. He brought the coon to the beach in the barrel, and five dogs attacked him. It was a not fight. The coon would not break cover, and was whipping the dogs one after the other when Mr. Amour, the keeper of the light, dumped him out on the sand. The hair on the coon's back stood up like the quills of a porcupine, and his teeth showed like the guns of a water battery.

Seeing the Commodore on the wharf, and apparently mindful of his former kindness, he ran toward him for protection.
The Commodore, however, misunderstood his intentions. The little yacht was swinging from the wharf. He got on the bow-stay, pinioned against the bowsprit, caught the job balliards, and reached the deck.
The coon followed suit, and the five dogs essayed to follow the coon. Terror-stricken, the Commodore ran around the center-board half a dozen times, with the coon and dogs at his heels. Finally he jumped overboard, scattering an immense school of mullet that were coming in with the tide.
The coon and the dogs plunged after him.
The Commodore reached the shore utterly exhausted. The coon, apparently disgusted at the man's heartlessness, struck out for himself, and sought shelter in a cluster of mangroves a hundred yards south of the light. The dogs followed the Commodore, and shook their wet hides in his face.

The Commodore put on dry clothes, and autumatized the coon in the strongest terms. While he was venting his rage the coon came out of the cover of the mangroves, sat down on the sand, and began to make faces at him.
"Sack him," shouted the Commodore, and the dogs went for him like volunteers on a bayonet charge. The qudruped stood his ground like an Irish soldier. The leading dog threw him six feet in the air, and while the others were looking for him he fell on their backs and took them in the flank. He made some ugly wounds, but did not kill. In the end, however, he was finally killed. "Talk about Davy Crockett at the Alamo," said the Commodore, while standing over the mangled body; "he wasn't a marker to this coon. He ought to have a monument."

A Monkey Pulls a Tooth.

Galt (Ont.) Reformer.
We invite the attention of Mr. Darwin to the following very singular anecdote regarding the monkey "Dot," belonging to James Wardlaw, of this town, as so peculiar an illustration of the ingenuity of the monkey has rarely, if ever, been recorded.
The monkey was brought to Galt from Deccan India, in the fall of 1878 by Mr.
Wardlaw, who had been residing in Hyderabad for several years. It fairly eclipsed itself on Sunday before last. The little creature had been suffering from toothache for several days, and evidently suffered severely. On Sunday the pain was more than ordinarily severe, and the monkey, like its human type, resolved at last to undergo a dental operation. But the dentist, strange to say, was itself. Dot found a string, fastened it around the aching tooth, seized the end of the string with its fore feet, drew up one of its hind legs between its fore feet, and gave a sudden shove which jerked the tooth out and sent it flying half way across the room. This having been accomplished, the monkey was at ease, and resumed its natural cheerfulness and amiability.

BRIEFLETS.

—April's blow-out.
—To-morrow is the second Sunday after Easter.
—The Circuit Court opens on Monday April 20th.
—Song and praise service at the First Methodist church to-night.
—Justice Prichard was only on half duty to-day, rheumatism bothering him badly.
—The Bower City Rifles are to give another dance at Armory hall, on the 19th.
—Prof. Titcomb has fitted up his music room over Moseley's new store in fine shape.
—A rush of dust this morning. It wasn't all in your eye, but a good deal of it was.
—Every well regulated man will get hold of a three cent piece to-day so that he can pass it off on the deacons to-morrow for a dime.
—The Merry Club are to have a "domino" next Wednesday evening at Cannon's hall. Smith & Tuckwood's band are to furnish the music.
—The evening services at the churches of the city now commence at 7:30 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock. The worshippers should bear this in mind.
—The Temperance Band will give another of their social parties at Young America hall, next Friday evening, April 16th, to which all are cordially invited. Tickets 50 cents.
—Emil Wiegand has fitted up Charles Dutton's little store next to the Grand Hotel for a barber shop. It is a very cozy place, and he will doubtless meet with a full share of patronage.
—Frank Smith, who was arrested at Brodhead, on the charge of assaulting Dennis Boylan, had his examination yesterday and was discharged, it being held that the cutting was justifiable.
—At the meeting of the Round Table to-night "Style" will be the subject considered. Among the participants will be Miss Bertha Sayles, J. C. Metcalf, B. F. Dunwidde, Rev. H. Faville, and Rev. T. P. Sawin.
—As will be seen by a notice given elsewhere, E. T. Foote has got settled after his move, all through house cleaning and ready for the rush of business. His store is crowded full of good goods, and everything is lovely and blooming.
—Rev. F. L. Chappel returned last evening from the East much to the joy of his many friends and parishioners. He has so far recovered from his illness as to be able to resume his pastoral labors, and will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist church to-morrow as usual.
—A Sunday school teacher at Janesville, named Wm. Monroe, loaded his gun with too heavy a charge while out hunting ducks last Sabbath, and it burst. If a man is going to hunt ducks he wants to pay all his attention to the business in hand. No man can load a gun properly if his mind is all the time dwelling upon a Sunday school lesson.—Pek's Sun.
—The statement that the annual inspection of the Guards and Rifles is to be held Monday evening April 20th, and that General Bryant is to be here then, is correct except that the annual inspection will not be held until fall, and that General Bryant is not going to be here on the date mentioned. The fact is the Guards and Rifles are to be inspected by their commanding officers on the 26th as required by law.
—There are few people who now can tell whereabouts in Rock county such villages and cities as Van Buren, Newburgh, Warren, Caramunee, Saratoga, and Wisconsin City, are located, and yet the records of 1836 and 1837 show the existence of those places in this county—at least on paper. They are mapped out, and they are now laid out—laid out so completely that even their names are gone from the memory of the average citizen.
—A glance at the new classified business directory of the city shows some things worthy of note. Among the figures are that this city has 5 banks; 7 barber shops; 20 boot and shoe dealers, and makers; 13 butchers; 6 cigar manufacturers; 21 dress and cloak makers; 7 drug stores; 11 dry goods stores; 7 flouring mills; 34 grocers; 6 hardware stores; 4 clothing stores; 3 harness shops; 11 hotels; 21 law offices; 7 livery stables; 6 lumber yards; 11 milliners; 13 ministers; 13 music teachers; 3 photographers; 15 physicians; 4 restaurants; 27 saloons; 7 jewelers; 6 furniture dealers; 4 coal and wood dealers.
—Most popular New York Hotel, the Astor House.
—PRESIDENT CHAPIN ILL.
It was expected that President A. L. Chapin, of Beloit College, would be the city to-day, and would occupy the pulpit of the Congregational church to-morrow morning and evening, but to-day Rev. Mr. Sawin received a dispatch from him saying he was very sick and unable to leave the house. In consequence of this Mr. Sawin will occupy the pulpit to-morrow as usual.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTISS & EVERTON, DRUGGISTS.
The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 62 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m., to-day at 52 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 49 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 36 degrees above. Cloudy and much wind.

One year ago the thermometer at corresponding hours stood at 54, 45, 43, 48 and it was raining.
